Notes:

1. List provides current initial compliance checks (i.e., proposal pre-check validations) performed by the Research.gov system as of January 30, 2023, for proposals submitted to NSF in Grants.gov.

2. If a Grants.gov proposal does not pass all initial compliance checks, the proposal cannot be processed in Research.gov. If an initial compliance check error is triggered, a system-generated email will be sent to the Principal Investigator listing the issue(s) that must be resolved before the proposal can be resubmitted in Grants.gov. Initial compliance check issues must be fixed in the proposal preparation source system (i.e., Grants.gov, or System-to-System) and then resubmitted to NSF via Grants.gov.

3. The Research.gov automated proposal compliance checks for full proposals will be run on proposals submitted via Grants.gov after they pass all initial compliance checks (i.e., proposal pre-check validations). Please see the Automated Compliance Checking of NSF Proposals page for the list of current Research.gov automated proposal checks.

4. Not all NSF policy requirements are currently enforced by automated compliance checks.

5. Compliance checks that trigger an error message will stop proposal submission to NSF.

6. Automated proposal compliance checks listed in this table apply to Grants.gov proposals in response to NSF solicitations, program descriptions, and program announcements, as well as to proposals submitted to the Proposal & Award Policies & Procedures Guide (PAPPG) as the funding opportunity type.
